

I'm afraid I now have insufficient time to write a well-considered response on behalf of The Peace Party - Non-violence, Justice, Environment. However, our 18-point Manifesto on education states:

"Ensure that everyone can have free, quality education which stresses especially the human values of Caring and Care, Love, Compassion, Kindness, Fairness, Trust and Justice which would lead to equality of opportunity for all, children and adults alike."

and

"All policies need financing. Can we afford them? Absolutely! The arguments heard about "deficit" and "austerity" are 'all smoke and mirrors'. The responsibility of the creation of money rests with the government. It is the duty of government to use that money supply for the benefit of all no matter what their circumstances. The banking system must be strictly controlled by our elected representatives by legally binding strictures. Non-compliance with these would automatically incur severe penalties."

I hope this may help.

Best Wishes,

John Morris

(Candidate for Guildford for The Peace Party - Non-violence, Justice, Environment)